INTERNATIONAL PRELIMINARY EXAMINATION REPORT

International application No.
PCT/US03/11077V. Reasoned statement under Rule 66.2(a)(ii) with regard to novelty, inventive step or industrial applicability; citations and explanations supporting such statement*1. STATEMENT

Novelty (N)	Claims 1-16	YES
	Claims NONE	NO
Inventive Step (IS)	Claims 1-16	YES
	Claims NONE	NO
Industrial Applicability (IA)	Claims 1-16	YES

2. CITATIONS AND EXPLANATIONS

Claims 1-16 meet the criteria set out in PCT Article 33(2)-(3), because the prior art does not teach or fairly suggest the claimed ventilated sealing head for an inductive cap sealer particularly a housing with openings and a fan located to pass air into the housing through the openings to cool an induction coil or the claimed apparatus for inductively sealing an inner seal over an opening in a container particularly an external sealing head having a housing contained an induction coil and a fan arranged to pass cooling air through the housing past the coil.

Hammen (U.S. Patent 6,153,864), Sarles et al (US 2002/0020144), and Herzog (US 2001/0032839) all teach sealing head and apparatuses for inductively sealing an inner seal over an opening in a container that have a housing with an inductor coil and a field focusing cradle and the top of the housing has a heat sink for dissipating heat generated from the coil. The heat sink is cooled by a fan directing cooling air outside the housing past the heat sink. There is no suggestion of the housing having openings for allowing the cooling air from a fan to enter the housing and flow past the induction coil to cool it.

Claims 1-16 meet the criteria set out in PCT Article 33(4), and thus have industrial applicability because the subject matter claimed can be made or used in industry.
